

Our Wyoming Covenant and My Three-Pillar Platform for the U.S. Senate

Today, I am formalizing the core of my campaign. As a former soldier and a Wyoming businessman, my core philosophy is that our actions and our inactions today flow backward to define our past and then combine to pave our future. I am running to restore a simple truth: The electorate is the only boss a Senator answers to. The constitution of the Great State of Wyoming and the Constitution of the Greatest Nation on this earth shall guide me.

Pillar One: The Constitutional Guardrail

Washington has become a place where "party" and "polling" dictate the law. I am running to replace that with a legal contract.

- The Veto of Principle: If a bill lacks a clear, enumerated power in the Constitution, I will vote "No." It does not matter how popular the spending or the program might be in the moment. If it isn't constitutional, it isn't the federal government's business. I will jealously guard the tenth amendment "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." And protect the rights of Wyoming.
- The "Oath Over Office" Pledge: My oath is to the Constitution, not a political party or a job title. If upholding that oath costs me the seat, I will vacate with pride.
- Restoring Article I: For decades, Congress has outsourced its duty to unelected bureaucrats. I will fight to repossess that power. No agency should have the power to create "rules" that function as laws without a vote from you, through your elected representatives

Pillar Two: Modernizing Oversight (The "Tech-Leg" Strategy)

We cannot defend the Constitution if we don't know what the government is doing. I will use 21st-century tools to force 18th-century transparency.

- "Plain English" Bill Review: Nobody reads 1,000-page bills before they pass. I will. Using AI-driven analysis, I will publish one-page "Impact Statements" for every major vote, showing exactly how it affects Wyoming families before I cast my ballot.

- Algorithmic Transparency: Big Tech's "bait and switch" algorithms are a threat to an informed citizenry. I will advocate for laws that require transparency in how information is served to the public, ensuring the "oil" of big money cannot secretly manipulate our civic discourse.
- Digital Town Square: Representation shouldn't be a mystery. I will use technology to aggregate the constitutional concerns of Wyomingites in real-time, ensuring my votes are grounded in your will within the boundaries of the law.

Pillar Three: Accountability and Term Limits

The system is broken because the people inside it have stayed so long they have forgotten who they work for.

- A Constitutional Amendment for Term Limits: This is my number one priority. We need citizen-legislators who come to D.C. to do a job and then come home to live under the laws they passed.
- Dark Money Transparency: Sunlight is the best disinfectant. I support making all political spending fully transparent. When "dark money" fuels misinformation, the electorate loses its agency.
- Judicial Integrity: I will only support judges who respect the original meaning of the Constitution. We need umpires who call balls and strikes, not players who try to rewrite the rules from the bench.
